

Top Advantages

| 2025 Acura ADX          |                                                                                     | 2026 Mercedes-Benz GLA  |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| $35,000                |    | $43,000                |
|                         | BASE MSRP*                                                                          |                         |
| 3,369 lbs.              |    | 3,861 lbs. (TBA)        |
|                         | WEIGHT                                                                              |                         |
| Standard                |    | Extra Cost              |
|                         | MOONROOF                                                                            |                         |
| 55.1 cu. ft.            |    | 50.5 cu. ft.            |
|                         | MAXIMUM CARGO ROOM                                                                  |                         |
| Standard                |  | Extra Cost              |
|                         | HEATED FRONT SEATS                                                                  |                         |
| 6 Years70,000 Miles |  | 4 Years50,000 miles |
|                         | POWERTRAIN LIMITED WARRANTY                                                         |                         |

*Prices shown are Acura-suggested retail prices only and do not include taxes, license, or Destination & Handling charge. Destination & Handling charge for cars is $1,195 and $1,350 for SUVs. Premium Paint colors are $600 and not included. Acura vehicle accessory costs, labor, and installation vary. Dealers set their own prices. Please consult your selected dealer.